REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

We herewith present the reports of the Superintendent of Schools, Supervisor of Music, Supervisor of Drawing and the Principal of the High School.

Music has been taught in our schools for so many years that our most advanced pupils have had a continuous drill from their earliest school days and consequently it is now showing some very fine results. When drawing has been taught as many years, we may confidently expect equal excellence. Results obtained in both will be quite fully shown at the exhibition of school work in the town hall sometime in the spring term, an exhibition which we believe will go far towards convincing the most conservative of our citizens of the value of these educational innovations.

In spite of the increased cost of our schools, which is inevitable from the increase cost of living and the fuller preparation required of our teachers, we have a larger balance left than ever before. It has been suggested to us that we should have enough on hand to go through the spring term or, in other words, to the close of the school year. This will be a matter for our citizens to determine at the school meeting.

In accordance with our statutory obligations, we estimate that $800.00 will be necessary for the purchase of books and supplies during the coming year, and $40.00 for maintaining flags and flag poles.

JESSIE RICE CALDWELL,

ROLLA G. BUGBEE,

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD :

I respectfully submit the following report concerning the schools of Peterboro for the year ending February fifteenth, nineteen hundred eleven.

During the year covered by this report there has been an unusual number of changes in the teaching force. The first resignation was that of Miss Carrie M. Pineo of the Valley school at the beginning of the spring term. Miss Bessie J. Tucker, a graduate of a normal school in New Brunswick, was elected as her successor. With the closing of the spring term, five of the regular teachers severed their connection with the schools of Peterboro. These were Misses Effie M. Prichard, Katherine E. Tracy, Margaret S. Hoyt, Lena M. Clark, and Ana M. Hadlay. (The one named first has since accepted domestic responsibilities.) Misses Tracy, Hoyt, and Clark received offers of more lucrative positions and are now teaching in Massachusetts.

During the summer, the supervisor of music, Miss Helen D. Daggett, accepted a flattering offer to go to another position ; and the supervisor of drawing, Miss Emeline O. Mendum, decided to take advantage of an opportunity to enter upon a different line of work.

The problem of finding capable successors for these teachers was one not easy of solution. Strong teachers are scarce, and are being eagerly sought after by the school authorities in the larger and more wealthy places. For this reason, it is frequently necessary to engage teachers who seem to give promise of becoming successful, rather than those who have already proved their worth. The outcome of the search for teachers was that when school opened in September, Miss Dorothy B. Logan, an experienced teacher, had charge of the eighth and ninth grades; Miss May B. Tracy, the sixth and seventh grades; Miss Marion Woodman (of Milford, a graduate of the normal school of Plymouth,) the fourth and fifth grades ; Miss Kathryn F. Mawn, the second and third grades ; and Miss Nora Seccombe, who had taken the kindergarten course at the Fitchburg Normal School, the first grade. Miss Nellie Foss Wiggan of Lee, a teacher of experience succeeded Miss Tracy at the South school, and Miss Emily C. Gordon of Melrose, Mass., who had taken a partial course at Boston University, began work as a teacher at the Wilson Corner school. At the same time, Miss Gertrude E. Clark of Williamstown, Mass., who came to us strongly recommended by the director of the School of Music Pedagogy, entered upon her duties as supervisor of music. On account of a combination of circumstances, the position of supervisor of drawing remained vacant until early in November when Miss Catherine Reaveley of Somerville, Mass., a graduate of the Normal Art School in Boston, received the appointment to take charge of that phase of the work. Just before the holiday vacation, Miss Logan resigned her position on account of poor health, and Mr. Harris W. Reynolds succeeded her. An examination of this list of changes reveals the fact that only seven of the regular teachers, just one-half, had the same schools in September that they had in June, and that both of the supervisors were new in their positions.

Note should also be taken of the changes in text books caused by the adoption of new and more modern spellers, geographies, grammars, and primers to take the place of books that were worn out by long use. These seem to be giving good satisfaction.

Notwithstanding the fact that we have better textbooks, and teachers more thoroughly prepared for their work, than did the people of fifty years ago, now and then some one asserts that the schools of the present day do not teach what might be termed the basal subjects as well as they were taught in years gone by. Some facts that have come to light within a few years seem to discredit this assertion. Examination papers of the past have been compared with those of the present with results in favor of the more recent papers. The most widely heralded instance of this kind occurred in Springfield, Massachusetts. The superintendent discovered a set of examination papers written by the members of the first year high school class over sixty years ago. Wishing to find out what ninth grade pupils would do, one of the grammar masters gave them the same questions, and marked both sets of papers the same way. The results of both tests are given below, together with the results obtained by pupils in the eighth and ninth grades of the Peterboro schools when given the same tests which were marked in the same way.

	Arithmetic	Spelling
Springfield, 1846	29.4	40.6
Springfield, 1905	65.5	51.2
Peterboro, Grade IX	69.2	57.0
Peterboro, Grade VIII	50.0	46.0

More is expected of teachers and school officials now than ever before. This is well illustrated by a recommendation made by Superintendent H. C. Morrison at a conference of New Hampshire superintendents held in Plymouth during the holiday season, when he said that more attention should be given to the plays and games indulged in by the pupils at noon times and recesses. As an aid in carrying out this suggestion, the recently revised Program of Studies for Elementary Schools contains directions for playing a number of games suitable for the school playground. The value of overseeing the plays of the children is well brought out by the experience of one of the teachers in our own schools. Soon after she began work in the school she noticed that the pupils employed a large part of their recreation time in saying disagreeable things to each other and in settling their differences of opinion by primitive methods. She suggested that they play some games, but to her surprise, she discovered that they did not know how to play any. Not daunted by that, she took it upon herself to teach them. The result of her pains and oversight is that the previous unpleasant conditions have almost entirely disappeared, and the recreation time is now a time of animated pleasure.

At the beginning of the fall term, the principal of the village school divided up the school grounds in such a way that several games, suited to pupils of different ages, could be played at the same time without having the players trespass upon each others territory. Such efforts deserve encouragement and commendation.

While it may be argued that children are not sent to school to learn to play games, it will be admitted that they are sent there to learn how to become good citizens. And I think that it will also be admitted that the learning how to get along with their fellows, which necessarily forms a part of the games, is without question a valuable contribution to the training for future service.

In closing this report, I wish to make a brief statement regarding the work done by your superintendent. As the idea of district supervision is one of comparatively recent origin, this may give to some a clearer conception of the duties of such an officer. The statements which follow refer to the work done in the whole supervisory district. During the year ending in June, 1910, the district superintendent made seven hundred forty school-room visits. During the first twelve months that the present superintendent was in office, he had occasion to write approximately five hundred official letters, and to travel fully five thousand miles in the performance of his duties. He also made inquiries regarding more than one hundred fifty applicants for positions in the schools of the supervisory district, and recommended for election about one fifth of that number. Some of the candidates did not seem to have the qualifications required by the position for which they applied, and some succeeded in securing more lucrative positions elsewhere. In addition to what has already been noted, he has examined numerous textbooks with a view to their adoption, has advised with the school boards frequently regarding supplies needed and other matters of import to the schools, has conducted teachers' meetings and advised with the teachers individually concerning the matter and method of instruction, as well as concerning attendance and points of discipline. He has issued employment certificates according to law, and has acted as a mediator in a few cases when parents felt that their children had not received fair treatment. He has attended educational meetings, and has endeavored by reading and study to become acquainted with the best ways and means for making the schools most effective.

At the present time, a plan is being worked out for an exhibition of school work to be given at some time during the spring term, which, in a measure, will be similar to the one given two years ago.

The following recommendations are also submitted :

Drinking fountains for the Center school.

Water tanks for each of the smaller schools.

Individual drinking cups.

A heating and ventilating apparatus for each of the rooms at the West school.

Thirty-six weeks a year for all schools.

A careful consideration of the advisability of changing from a nine grade to an eight grade basis.

FREDERICK L. KENDALL,
Superintendent of Schools.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS :

If there were any doubt as to the efficacy of the Weaver System of Music, as taught in the Public schools, I would say, "visit the schools of Peterboro, and see the good results." Thanks to the fact, that my predecessors have also been advocates of this system, the music is well launched on the road to success. From the first grade up through the High school, the plan is excellently systematic, working out the details of time and tune theoretically, and putting the theory into practice in the melodious songs sung in every grade, and in the individual work and the sight reading. In the first grade the pupils are learning to sing rote songs well, and striving for correctness of pitch, and familiarity with the first five scale tones.

In the second and third grades the pupils are not only learning the easy tune principles, but are reading songs from a book for the first time.

In the fourth and fifth, two-part songs are sung in a very presentable manner and the sight reading, including a knowledge of chromatics and common time, is very good.

In the sixth and seventh grades more difficult two-part songs are sung, and some three-part songs. The theoretical principles are not only accumulating, but involve a knowledge of all that has passed before; each new principle making a firm foundation for that which is to come.

Pupils in the grades are writing short original melodies, involving different time signatures, with various time units, thus strengthening their idea of time, and form of music construction as no other way can do.

In the eighth and ninth grades the music meets with its most enthusiastic response on the part of the pupils. The work done is excellent and promises a good outlook for the High school next year. Three-part songs are sung very well, in time, tune and expression. Within the last two weeks, we have taken up four-part songs, using supplementary four-part Coda music. It is meeting with much success, the parts are well balanced, and the voices are better suited to this than to three-part music.

The eight and ninth grades are uniting with the High school in the effort to get up a concert to be given in public, about the middle or last of March.

Much work on the part of the supervisor, teachers and pupils is being put on this, both in school hours and out. We are working on a cantata, male choruses, mixed choruses, etc., and later, we hope to show what we have accomplished.

Through all the grades, a small portion of time is often given to vocalizing in the endeavor to keep the tone quality from becoming harsh.

I must speak a few words in regard to the excellent results obtained in the district schools of this town, and to the earnest work of those teachers, especially, when there are several grades in each room to require their attention in many ways.

I am proud of the spirit that prevails in the schools, and will welcome any visitor who will come into our schools to hear our progress in music. Respectfully submitted,

GERTRUDE E. CLARK,
Supervisor of Music.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

The following report of the work of the Department of Drawing is herewith submitted:

On entering, the first of November, upon my duties as the drawing teacher, I found the work in a satisfactory condition. In a great many cases, the regular teachers had carried on the work during the months of September and October. It only remained for me to continue.

Each teacher in the elementary grades has an outline of the lessons for at least two months in advance, thus giving a definite purpose to work for. I have tried to assign work of such a character that the majority of pupils can perform well, and that the regular teacher can teach satisfactorily.

In as many schools as possible, I am putting in manual training, without special equipment, along with the drawing, in this way making drawing more practical.

The following topics are included in the course in drawing: Illustrative Drawing, Object Drawing, Nature Drawing, Paper Work, Color, Design.

The work in the High school is a more difficult problem on account of the limited amount of time. The entire school is divided into two classes, mechanical and free hand drawing.

In closing I wish to thank the teachers for their hearty co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

CATHERINE REAVELEY,
Supervisor of Drawing.

MR. F. L. KENDALL, Peterboro, N. H.

DEAR SIR:—In presenting the report of the Peterborough High School for the year ending February, 1911, I wish to call your attention and the attention of the School Board and of the citizens of Peterborough to some features of the school work wherein improvements may be made.

In the first place, it seems to me, that more attention should be paid to the fact that a considerable number of boys and girls in this and every community who ought to be enjoying the benefits of a high school education are not doing so. This is due to a number of causes, chief among which are the desire to leave school and the necessity of going to work to earn a living. Strange to say, in any given number of boys, there exists among a few the impression, an erroneous one to be sure, that school is an irksome place and that the real calling of a boy is work and not school. To this I can only answer that the sentiment of the head of the family and of the community in general ought to be squarely set against such an opinion and the boy ought to be continually encouraged in the attitude that going to school is the wise course and that leaving it is a backward step in his life.

Fortunately the foregoing discussion refers to only a few. There is always and everywhere a considerable number of would-be students who are denied the advantages of education in the secondary schools because of lack of money. Occasionally a brilliant boy succeeds in getting instruction in spite of the fact that his parents are poor, but more often he is obliged to leave school just as he is beginning to enjoy it. And right here is a grand opportunity for a change. I would strongly suggest that families that are financially able interest themselves in some such scholar and see to it that he finishes the course in the local school. It would be a worthy object and undoubtedly secure good results.

Continuing in the same line I would suggest also that those pupils in the 8th grade of the Grammar school who show unusual aptitude for study and proficiency in school work, should be urged to enter the High school directly from that grade. Of course this should not be done except after thorough investigation of each individual case by the superintendent, teachers and parents. In several of the schools of the neighboring towns, as you know, the 9th grade has been abolished, and the children promoted to the High school, provided their work in the grades has been satisfactory. This plan recommends itself to most people because it is calculated to keep more pupils in school, for once in the High school their ambition then is to graduate.

Whenever the matter of improvements for the coming year is brought up for discussion, I recommend for consideration the following: 1st, that electric lights be installed in the rooms of the center building, not now so equipped; 2nd, that the attic be cleaned and fixed suitably for a play-room for the older boys in winter time; and 3rd, that a sidewalk be laid from the street to the school building.

It seems to me that more interest should be fostered in school affairs among the representative clubs and associations of the town and that the different organizations of the town be asked to plan for a more intelligent co-operation with the school board in matters educational. This would help the school board and the teachers in the somewhat exacting and occasionally unpleasant task of school administration.

In closing, I might say that the High school is in excellent condition, thanks to the untiring efforts of the assistant teachers, the intelligent behavior and kindly patience of the scholars, and the sympathetic co-operation of the school board. I am told that in the history of the last twenty years of the High school, this year is the second successive time that the entire teaching force has remained intact from year to year, a circumstance which, I think argues well the continued success of the school. I am, sir,

Very cordially yours,

W. L. MACDONALD.

MAURICE H. NICHOLS, Treasurer.

During the past year there have been added to the street lighting system (as a result of action taken at the last town meeting) six lamps making in all about 166 lights now in operation. These, together with the various buildings lighted by the plant without account, are conservatively estimated to be worth from $2500.00 to $3000.00 per annum to the town.

The proposed arrangement with the Union Mfg. Co., looking to the construction of a new reservoir between our plant and theirs, which we had every reason, a year ago, to think would be accomplished, has so far been postponed.

The total amount of commercial lighting done for the year is $4685.70 of which $6.73 remains uncollected and $18.13 is counted as poor debt. The stock sold and labor performed by our superintendent and his assistant have amounted to $2006.29 of which $817.40 remains uncollected, but is due from responsible parties. Our unpaid bills to Feb. 1st including cash advanced by treasurer amount to $548.25, leaving us net assets in cash and accounts of $277.88. Our stock in trade and tools amount to $1200.00 as against $1346.00 one year ago.

During the year we have replaced 17 old poles and have strung about 2000 feet of new wire. Such further repair of our lines as will be necessary during the coming year will probably not be of more than ordinary account, but developments at our plant may in the near future necessitate a considerable outlay.

The Dublin Electric Co. have, at their own expense entirely connected our plant and theirs in such a manner that an exchange of electric current is possible, and we have furnished them with considerable power during the winter. They have, in an indefinite way, suggested that some arrangement might be made between us by which both Dublin and Peterboro could have more or less day service. No details for such an arrangement are ready for submission, however.

During the year the unsafe wiring and inadequate lighting of the library has been remedied by re-wiring the building in rigid conduit. An oak cut-out case was placed upon the east wall of the office. New mazda lamps were put in and those in the reading room fitted with holaphane shades. The office lights upon desk and table are conveniently adjustable. These changes are improvements satisfactory in use and appearance.
